10 Big Oil Companies To Repay $103 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten oil companies have agreed to repay some $103.7 million in alleged overcharges to their customers, the Federal Energy Administration reports.

In addition, agency officials said on Tuesday that four other oil companies have been notified they are suspected of overcharges totaling some $90.7 million.

The overcharges stem from violations of the FEA's pricing regulations.

Of the 10 companies, four were ordered to bar price increases and to roll back prices and take other steps until overcharges totaling $58.2 million are made up. The FEA identified the firms as Ashland, Charter, Conoco and Koch.

The other six companies, which the FEA refused to name, voluntarily agreed to roll back prices totaling $45.5 million without a formal order from the agency. These companies had been accused of illegally increasing diesel fuel prices and service station rents and incorrectly computing base prices, product costs and product-exchange agreements with firms in other parts of the country.

An FEA spokesman said that in many instances the violations were inadvertent because of the complexity of the pricing regulations.

The victims of the overcharges ranged throughout the distribution chain from large terminal operators to consumers, and virtually all petroleum products were involved, the spokesman said.

The actions were taken during the first six-month study of oil company operations, which ended June 30, by the agency's refinery audit review program. The FEA said its 90-member field staff is in the midst of its second round of audits.

The four companies suspected of overcharges of $90.7 million have been given an opportunity to explain their procedures.

City To Repair Armory Roof

In a busy legislative session Tuesday Circleville Council passed 10 ordinances, adopted two resolutions and held a third resolution for further study.

A bid of $10,371 for re-roofing a portion of the armory and repair of the remainder of the roof has been accepted, it was announced by Atwood Jones, service director. The low bid was $10,371 and was submitted by Edward A. Warner Inc. of Columbus. This is the same firm that repaired and painted the windows of the city building a few years ago, Jones said.

Council appropriated $11,000 to pay for the work. Of the total, $7,000 was transferred from the unappropriated money of the capital improvement fund to the repairs and maintenance account of the fund and $4,000 was transferred from the general fund to the repairs and maintenance account.

Four of the ordinances involved the employment of two persons for the city health department.

The position of city sanitarian was created with a salary established at $600 per month. A temporary post, the ordinance set Aug. 1 to Dec. 31 as the effective date of the position. A companion ordinance appropriated $1,800 to pay the sanitarian's salary. There was already some money appropriated to this particular fund.

The position of a parttime city health nurse was created for the same period with the salary set at $4 per hour. Councilman Tom Wells voiced objection to this ordinance because he said the salary scale was an increase of $1 per hour over the salary voted for a full time nurse when the city had one.

His motion to hold the legislation for a second reading died because of a lack of a second. Wells voted against the motion to suspend the rules of council and against the passage of the ordinance.

Mayor Frank Barnhill said the parttime nurse was needed because the city has resumed TB testing of all food handlers.

The mayor said the city board is in the process of negotiating with the county board for providing health services to the city. He said a meeting is scheduled Aug. 27 with both boards for this purpose.

Council transferred $1,500 from the general fund to the municipal court legal docket and supplies account to pay for new dockets and legal forms required by the recently enacted criminal code.

Because of the increased cost of gasoline and other supplies, $500 was transferred from the general fund to the park expense account. It was noted this should be enough to carry the account through the remainder of the season.

Employment of parttime labor to paint and install street signs at the rate of $2.15 per hour was approved by council and $400 appropriated to pay the help in a pair of companion ordinances.

Legislation authorizing the city safety director to advertise for bids for a high pressure air compressor and accessories was approved. The compressor will be used by the fire department to fill tanks on gas masks. Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe noted the city presently has to take the gas mask tanks to Columbus to have them filled.

An ordinance accepting a deed from Circleville Swim Club Inc. was approved. The deed is for land to be used in improving the access road into the park.

A resolution to join the 8-county Regional Planning Development Organization was approved. Counties in the region are: Pickaway, Fayette, Fairfield, Licking, Delaware, Union, Madison and Franklin. Mayor Frank Barnhill explained the resolution is for intent to join only and does not bind the city to become a part of the RPDO. He noted the formation of RPDOs was mandated by the governor as an agency for applying for and using federal revenue sharing money.

A resolution honoring Leroy Lape for his years of service to the Circleville Water Department was approved. Lape started with the city in July, 1946 and retired August 1947.

A resolution authorizing Pumpkin Show Inc. to operate the annual Pumpkin Show on the streets was held for further study at the suggestion of David Crawford. This is an annual resolution which makes Pumpkin Show "legal".

Crawford suggested that the city investigate the extent of its liability in case of an accident during the show. Pumpkin Show carries its own liability insurance for the protection of the city according to the resolution but Crawford was concerned whether this insurance covered the festival during the time it is set up on the streets and when the rides and concessions are removed.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Service Director Atwood Jones reported that Van Camp Inc. has completed paving Wilson Ave., Scioto Street and Water Street.

In answer to a question by councilman Ben Gordon, Jones reported he is still in the process of acquiring two easements for the improvement of the north extension of Atwater Ave. This particular project has been in the planning stage for a number of years, but right of way acquisition has held it up.

Jones announced a public hearing will be held Sept. 25 concerning two rezoning requests.

Council members were reminded by City Auditor Marvin Turner that the budget hearing is scheduled 9:30 a.m. Sept. 3 in the county auditor's office. Mrs. Turner suggested all members of council attend.

Council members present Tuesday were: Dr. David Goldschmidt, John Jenkins, Harold Hoffman, Dixie Watters, Ben Gordon, David Crawford and Tom Wells. Council president Joe Bell, clerk Robert Shadley and city attorney William Stevenson were also present.

Arab countries, and also by inflation," the Amstar spokesman said.

He said returns also have gone up since price controls ended.

Nab Suspect In Alphabet Explosions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Yugoslavian immigrant with a record of sex offenses has been arrested for investigation of murder, and police say he is the "alphabet bomber" whose deadly charges have killed three persons.

Police and the FBI said Muharem Kurbegovic, 31, was taken into custody on Tuesday night after he planted a tape recording in a trash can in a rest room at a Hollywood take-out restaurant.

They said Kurbegovic was the man who identified himself in telephone calls and other tape recordings as "Issac Rasim," military leader of an organization he called Aliens of America.

He was called the alphabet bomber after threatening to spell out the group's name "in blood" unless immigration and sex laws were repealed. William A. Sullivan, assistant director of the FBI in charge of the Los Angeles office, said Kurbegovic was apparently acting alone and "at this time it would be my opinion that there is no such group as the Aliens of America."

Police said Kurbegovic, who had been employed until this week at a blueprint company in Los Angeles, was unarmed and offered no resistance when he was arrested.

Kurbegovic, who has light, curly, short hair, was marched past newsmen at police headquarters and booked in connection with an Aug. 6 blast at Los Angeles International Airport that killed three persons and injured 35.

Last Friday night, in response to a warning from the man who called himself Isaac Rasim, police found a 25-pound bomb planted in a locker in a downtown bus station. The device was disarmed.

After Kurbegovic's arrest, police aided by bomb-sniffing dogs searched his Hollywood apartment and hauled away what they described as a large cache of chemicals and explosives.

They said the haul included numerous bottles of clear liquids, several cans of gunpowder, a large spool of electrical wire, a cassette tape recorder, a gas mask and a number of books on how to make bombs. Police would not say what the clear liquid was, but they said all of the material found could be used in making a large quantity of powerful explosives.

Sullivan said it was not known where the explosives were obtained.

A police spokesman said plainclothes officers and FBI agents had been following Kurbegovic for more than 18 hours before his arrest at the restaurant, Carl's Jr.

Witnesses at the restaurant described him as "mild looking." He was dressed casually.

Sullivan said the Immigration Service sifted the records of aliens living in the Los Angeles area, while police searched their records for aliens with records of sex offenses.

He said Kurbegovic was an alien with such a record, although Sullivan declined to give any details.

Council Debates Utilities Post

Circleville Councilmen in a lengthy debate Tuesday voiced objection to the manner in which city public utilities director Charles Taylor was re-employed by the board of public utilities.

Fourth ward councilman Dixie Watters summed up the feeling of the city's governing body when he said to Taylor, "It's not that we don't want you for the job, but at the first of the year we gave all the employees a raise and then all at once you get another $4,000 increase. It's just not fair to the rest of the city employees."

At the Aug. 6 meeting council passed a salary ordinance for the public utilities director for an $18,000 annual salary. The ordinance listed the condition that the new service director must have a class 3 sewage treatment plant operator's license by the time the new plant goes into operation.

In urging council to pass the wage increase for the post, utilities board chairman Dr. John Bowers said the city had been told it would take at least that much and possibly more to attract qualified applicants to the job.

At the time he was explaining the ordinance, Dr. Bowers said the board had not ruled out the possibility of accepting Taylor's application should he change his mind about resignation.

In last night's meeting it was pointed out by Taylor that it would be at least a year before he could take the examination for his class 3 permit. "The exam is only given once a year in October and there is no way I could prepare for it this year," Taylor said.

In defense of the utilities board action, Mayor Frank Barnhill said that council must remember the city is working on new projects — the new sewerage treatment plant and the expansion of the water plant. "If we brought in a new man I don't know how long it would be before he would learn the job. I think the salary voted by council is justifiable and I don't think there is an individual better qualified for the job than Chuck Taylor." The mayor said that at least four people had expressed interest in the post in addition to Taylor.

Council members who said they had received complaints from city residents on the re-employment of Taylor were Watters, Ben Gordon, Harold Hoffman and John Jenkins.

A meeting of council and the public utilities board will be held to discuss proposed changes in the utilities department and the expansion and improvement of the city's water facilities.

Among the changes in the department is a change in the computer billing, returning the operation to Circleville rather than farming it out to a private computer billing firm.

Sugar Profits Soar

NEW YORK (AP) — The profits of sugar refiners have jumped to record levels while the price of sugar in the supermarket has soared in a year from 79 cents to $2 for a five-pound bag.

Refiners say crop failures in recent years have stimulated world bidding for the scarce commodity. And the United States, which imports more than half its sugar from Latin America, the Philippines and other foreign sources, is in the competition. They also say the tight supply situation has given them the opportunity to raise their profit margins on the once-abundant but low-profit item.

Amstar Corp., the nation's largest sugar refiner with more than $1 billion in annual sales, reported a 110 per cent increase in annual profits to $31.4 million for the year ending June 30.

In the fourth quarter alone, Amstar's profits were $15.2 million, compared with $5.9 million the previous quarter and with $5.2 million for the previous year.

Sucrest Corp., which last reported profits for the quarter ended March 31, showed earnings of $758,000 for that quarter, compared with a deficit of $61,000 for the same quarter of 1973.

Holly Sugar Corp., which reports profits only on a yearly basis to Feb. 28, said profits last year rose to $5.3 million from $2.6 million in 1973. Sales last year were $111.7 million.

In the first quarter of this year, Holly Sugar's sales reached $60.4 million, more than half of the previous year's total. The company would not say what its quarterly profits were.

"The cost of raw sugar is more than 80 per cent of today's refined sugar prices, and that price has risen from 12 cents a pound last year to more than 32 cents a pound today," said an Amstar spokesman.

Amstar and other sugar companies say poor crops in Russia and Cuba in recent years and in Western Europe and the United States this year have aggravated the world supply and sent prices up sharply.

"In recent months, prices have been sent further up by persistent buying of available supplies by the dollar rich numbered cups. The barrel spins, an envelope is selected and opened. The number inside is matched with a cup, and—that's it!—the number of the ball in the cup is a winner.

Any ticket bearing a three-digit number that matches the one in that first cup wins $20 and a chance at $1 million in a drawing to be held every six to eight weeks, depending on how many tickets are sold.

A repeat of the drums-and-numbers game produces a pair of three-digit numbers. Matching tickets with one of the three-digit numbers in a green box and the other in a blue box get $500. Two blues mean $1,000. Two greens mean at least $15,000 and a chance for more.

The $20 winners get their money by presenting the tickets to any sales agent for verification. Other winners must bring their tickets to a regional lottery office—Canton, Columbus, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Toledo, Marietta or Dayton—for verification.

during this shakedown period.

And what if one of the lucky ticketholders is from Kentucky or West Virginia or Canada or any place other than Ohio? "If he has a winning ticket (properly verified), of course we'll pay him," says Stephen T. Parisi, commission legal counsel. "The commission will make sure the proper recipient will receive the winnings."

Selection of the first winning numbers will be a noisy affair involving 1,000 white balls, each bearing a number from 000 to 999.

The balls will be displayed in a rack, then dumped into a drum seven feet long and about two feet in diameter. Near it will be 10 cups, each with a single number.

And in a nearby barrel will be 10 envelopes, each containing the number of the post position of a winning horse in some Ohio race.

The drum spins thunderously, mixing the thousand numbered balls, and 10 of them go into the sealed

The numbers and their placement on the tickets determine whether winners get $20, $500 or $1,000—and whether they go on to a chance in the Buckeye 300 or the infrequent $1 million drawings.

The first Buckeye 300, in which ticketholders will win between $15,000 and $300,000 each, is due Aug. 29 in ceremonies on the Capitol steps in Columbus. That's the date of the second regular drawing in what hereafter will be a weekly affair.

The initial sales period was 12 days, with up to 14 million tickets available. The second and subsequent periods will be one week, and 11 million tickets have been printed for the current round that began officially at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

Some sales agents failed to make that deadline for turning in funds from their sales, a commission spokesman said, adding that the commission was making allowances because "we've made a boo-boo or two ourselves."

First Lottery Drawing Set Thursday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Thursday will be no day for an Ohio lottery ticketholder to discover he's color blind.

The blue and green of the boxes on the ticket is one of the keys to how much one wins.

The initial key, however, is a three-digit number, and the historic first winning number will be revealed with band music, balloons and other ceremony Thursday morning.

The commission's executive director, John Kirkland; three commissioners—Bernice McKenzie of Canton, David Leahy of Cleveland and Richard Rust of Cincinnati; state Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Cleveland; commission staff members and a pair of television personalities—all will be part of the proceedings.

Aboard a special number-bespeckled commission van designed as the mobile site of the drawings, one three-digit number and a pair of three-digit numbers will be selected.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Gloom over economic prospects regained its grip on the stock market today, pushing prices sharply lower again after a mild and short-lived technical rally Tuesday.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.31 at 717.54, and losers outpaced gainers by 4-to-3 in quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that sellers moved in after Tuesday's upswing failed to carry over into early trading today.

Polaroid, the NYSE's most-active issue, fell 3 to 19½. The company said late Tuesday it began laying off some employees under a decision announced last month to "streamline operations."

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .21 at 74.17.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was down .39 at 38.93.

Syntex, the volume leader on the Amex, was down ¾ at 37½.

U.S. To Recover Publicly Financed Items From Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is going to re-examine all publicly financed items installed in Richard M. Nixon's Florida and California homes with an eye to recovering what it profitably can, according to the head of the General Services Administration.

Arthur F. Sampson said his agency will "look at every item" installed while Nixon was President, and then decide what should be done with them now.

From Nixon's 1968 election until mid-1973, the government put $1,156,075 worth of equipment and capital improvements into Nixon's homes at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla. Other, larger sums were spent on adjacent offices and administrative facilities.

Sampson said on Tuesday the examination will be to "determine what is in the best interest of the federal government."

He said it wouldn't be in the government's interest to dig up $3,000 worth of wiring if the salvage value was only a few dollars. But other items no longer needed and easily removed could be reclaimed.

The GSA was heavily criticized when details of its spending at Nixon sites emerged through news reporting and congressional hearings during 1973. The government claimed most of the expenditures were required for security protection.

Sampson said he is considering what to do at Key Biscayne if Nixon sells either or both of his homes there. As President, Nixon used one house for a vacation residence and the second for an office. The government leased two others in the compound for administrative and security offices.

"We are looking at those leases now," said Sampson. He believes the government would have to do some work to restore the homes for residential use. But he said he believes the government would not be obligated to do any work at the home Nixon used for an office.

He said security protection continues at Key Biscayne the same as when Nixon was President.

As long as security requirements continue, many of the government-financed installations at Nixon's homes may have to be retained.

He said Nixon's aides have expressed informally Nixon's intent to make the former Western White House compound at San Clemente his permanent office.

Nixon is entitled to office support funds for six months under the Presidential Transition Act, then for the remainder of his life under the Former Presidents Act.

His three principal aides now working in San Clemente are still on White House salaries.

Nixon is entitled to $450,000 for other expenses of his presidential transition, but the money hasn't been appropriated yet.

As a result, there's been no money available to buy stationery to answer more than 200,000 letters sent to San Clemente, Sampson said.

After six months, Nixon will be entitled to $96,000 a year for salaries of aides. He additionally will receive allowances for office space, postage, some travel and some communications.

Teays Valley Schools To Open Doors Sept. 3

Teays Valley schools will begin the 1974-75 year with a full day of classes Tuesday, Sept. 3.

High school students should report at 7 a.m., elementary at 8:15 a.m., and junior high at 12:17 p.m.

Parents who live in the Teays Valley Local School District may enroll their children in Teays Valley Schools immediately.

School personnel are on duty in all schools and will help with the enrollment. School officials would appreciate parents enrolling their children as soon as possible to assist in preparation for the opening of school Sept. 3.

All high school students new to the Teays Valley district should register prior to Aug. 30.

Turks Say They'll Talk On Cyprus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit said today Turkey is ready to negotiate "reasonable" changes in the demarcation line carved out by Turkish forces on Cyprus, and that he is "more optimistic than before that Cyprus negotiations can start again."

He said he and British Ambassador Sir Horace Philips met for 45 minutes in Ankara and discussed possibilities for restarting the talks and that Britain is contacting all the parties involved.

Ecevit told newsmen he is willing to meet with Greek Premier Constantine Caramanlis "anywhere, anytime."

Ecevit said Turkey has made an open call to all parties—Greek Cypriots, Greece and Britain—for immediate negotiations on a Cyprus settlement.

"Until the final status is settled chaos will reign on the island," he said. "The Greek Cypriots will suffer from this at least as much, in fact more than the Turks."

Ecevit said there is an absolute need for separate areas for the Greek and Turkish Cypriots because of ethnic, religious and cultural differences.

"There is no concept of a Cyprus nation on either side. No one can speak of a Cypriot nation. If they live separately but side by side they will find the possibility of an agreement," he said.

The Turkish Cypriot community on Cyprus numbers 120,000. The Greek Cypriots number 520,000.

Queen's Jetliner, Phantoms Mix

RAMSTEIN, West Germany (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's jet was en route to Bali in March when it was approached by four Phantom jets, the U.S. Air Force has disclosed.

A spokesman for British Airways in London said the Queen's pilot reported the incident at the time and said the fighter planes were never close enough to the monarch's VC10 to constitute a "near miss."

The Air Force's European headquarters in West Germany said on Tuesday that the incident occurred during a NATO maneuver over Karlsruhe and the pilots were keeping strictly to their prescribed routes a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Friday at the high school office.

All children entering first grade must be 6 years of age by Sept. 30. A birth certificate and a shot and immunization record must be presented in order to register.

The immunizations against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, rubella (German Measles), and measles (Rubella) are required.

Students who were enrolled in Teays Valley Schools last year and will be transferring to different schools in the district should notify the former school and the new school either in person, by phone, or letter.

The student's records will then be forwarded to the new school.

Students who will be transferring from other school districts can be enrolled by presenting last year's report card and birth certificate.

Teays Valley Local School personnel will request the student's records from former schools.

Prices Jump During July

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living rose eight-tenths of a per cent in July despite an easing in the increase in food prices, the government said today.

The July report marked only the second time this year the monthly increase in the government's Consumer Price Index has been less than 1 per cent.

The July increase would amount to an annual rate of inflation of 9.6 per cent, still ahead of last year's 8.8 per cent inflation rate.

Prices as of July 31 were 11.8 per cent higher than in July 1973, the government said. That is the biggest 12-month jump since the year ending September 1947, when the increase was 12.6 per cent.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said, however, workers managed to gain ground last month in their race with inflation.

Spendable earnings, after taking account for inflation, moved up by two-tenths of 1 per cent.

But since it was only the second monthly increase this year, real spendable earnings were 5.3 per cent less than a year earlier.

The major factors pushing up prices in July, the department said, were higher interest costs for home buyers and higher prices on cars, medical care and restaurant meals.

The increase in prices for regular gasoline showed from six-tenths of a penny in June to a two-tenths of a cent jump in July. The latest national average price worked out to 55.8 cents a gallon.

O-I Promotes, Transfers Don Vickroy

Donald L. Vickroy has been transferred to the Owens-Illinois plywood plants in Lufkin and Jasper, Texas, where he will assume the duties of purchasing agent, according to Dean A. Logan, general manager of the local O-I plant.

He began his career with Owens-Illinois on May 22, 1965, as a production operator, and on Nov. 30, 1968, was promoted to the job of purchasing inventory clerk.

On June 1, 1970, Vickroy assumed the responsibilities of purchasing agent, and Feb. 1, 1974, was promoted to the job of customer service representative which he now vacates with his transfer to Texas.

Vickroy is a graduate of Circleville High School and has attended Columbus Business University and the Lancaster Branch of Ohio University.

He plans to reside in the Lufkin area with his wife, Sharon; son, Gary; and daughter, Lisa.

Ford Rejects New Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has pledged not to seek wage-price controls, saying recent experience makes it clear that compulsory controls would be most undesirable.

He made the statement on Tuesday as Congress was completing action on his request for legislation to re-establish a wage and price monitoring agency. The new agency would depend on investigation and disclosure of increases that threaten to feed inflation. It would have no authority to impose controls.

"I will do my best to see that the new price and wage monitoring agency works effectively to combat inflation," Ford said.

"There will be no mandatory wage and price controls."

The President added that he wanted to get this message to labor and business leaders so they can act accordingly.

Ford also moved to set up a steering committee to prepare for an economic summit conference scheduled for late September or early October.

He has promised to preside at the economic summit, which also would include representatives from Congress, management, labor and consumer groups.

The bill setting up a Council on Wage and Price Stability, in effect a revival of the old Cost of Living Council, was the first specific legislation Ford asked for.

The House took the final action approving it on Tuesday, 369-27. The Senate already passed the bill.

While many congressmen, especially Democrats, have publicly expressed skepticism about the efficacy of an agency without mandatory control powers, the overwhelming inclination was to give the new President's proposal a chance.

Red Foxx Loses Bid For Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Redd Foxx has lost a bid for a quick divorce and a later property settlement with his wife Betty Jean.

Foxx, star of television's "Sanford and Son" series, moved for a summary judgment, but it was denied on Monday by District Court Judge Keith Hayes. A hearing was set for a later, unspecified date.

Foxx testified he and his wife were incompatible.

"We just don't get along. She wants to go out at night and I'm too tired," said Foxx, 51.

The couple has been married five years. They have no children.

156 Students Attend Trinity Bible School

More than 200 parents and children from Trinity Lutheran Vacation Bible School attended a carry-in picnic supper Friday at Ted Lewis Park, climaxing the annual event held Aug. 5-16.

Mrs. Paul Teegardin Jr. presided as toastmistress. She led the group in singing the doxology before eating. Following the meal, she organized games for the children and awarded prizes, with Mrs. Tom Wolfe and Diedre VanCamp the co-winners in the contest to guess the number of candies in a two-gallon jug.

Bible School teachers were then given recognition.

They are:

Pre-school—Mrs. James Barr, Mrs. Bruce Bell, Mrs. Roger Koch, Mrs. Dennis Valentine, Mrs. Ronald VanBuskirk, Mrs. Sam Weller, Mrs. Barry Fisher, Mrs. John Prince, Mrs. Andrew Halcoussis, superintendent; Kindergarten—Mrs. Richard Koch, Miss Kim Martin and Mrs. James

The Bible School general committee consisted of Mrs. Johnson, chairman; Mrs. Robert Scranton and Mrs. Andrew Halcoussis.

Judge Gives Sentence For Contempt

Angela Tomas, Panama City, Fla., was found guilty of contempt of court and sentenced to eight days in the county jail by acting judge Carlos M. Riecker, retired judge of Morgan County.

Judge Riecker was assigned to the local court to hear cases in the absence of Common Pleas Judge William Ammer and Probate Judge Guy Cline.

Ms. Tomas was cited for contempt when she was found talking to a prisoner in the county jail without permission of the court. The contempt citation was presented by Pickaway County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt.

Three men appeared before the court on bills of information, pleading guilty to offenses with which they were charged.

Melvin L. Lansing entered a plea of guilty to passing a bad check in the amount of $151.32 to Hawks Music Center. His sentence was deferred by Judge Riecker.

The judge ordered a presentence report and investigation for Thomas Franklin Griffey and Samuel Stanley, both involved in the burglary of cameras from the window of Schreiner Studio in Circleville.

Western Ohio Leads To Past, Future

A pair of Ohio Historical Society attractions in western Ohio offer travelers a unique opportunity for a two-way trip. One road leads back into the past and another points forward to the future.

The Neil Armstrong Air and Space Museum, at the Wapakoneta exit of I-75 in Wapakoneta, is dedicated to all Ohioans who have dared to defy gravity, from an early aeronaut drifting with the wind in the wicker basket of his balloon to Neil Armstrong's first step on the Sea of Tranquility.

The museum building itself is as daring as the bold history it contains. The board-formed concrete walls have been surrounded by mounded earth, leaving only the diamond-shaped pattern of the roof beams exposed. Surmounting the entire structure at its center is a 60-foot white dome, built to house a one-of-a-kind planetarium.

The experience of a visit to the Armstrong Museum begins even as you drive into the main parking lot, passing the F5D Skylancer that Armstrong flew for NASA in the early '60's. Even the sidewalk leading to the museum's tunnel-like entrance has been given a special treatment with blue runway lights outlining its border.

The interior of the museum, with its multi-leveled ramps, platforms and pits, was designed to lead your imagination from the beginnings of flight, through the conquest of space and back to earth in the decompression lounge.

The first gallery contains symbols and relics of early Ohio achievements in aviation. A Dayton balloonist's gondola, the airframe from the dirigible TOLEDO II and a cross-section of a Wright Brothers Flying Boat line one wall, while overhead a series of slide and motion picture projectors retell the stories of many of the earliest efforts at flight.

Near the end of the main gallery, a specially constructed pit houses the 1946 Aeronca in which Armstrong first learned to fly.

A multi-level ramp leads up past a Jupiter rocket engine and an exhibit on Robert Goddard's research into rocket propulsion and terminates in the space gallery. Here the Gemini 8 capsule has been positioned to allow visitors to inspect the cramped quarters in which Armstrong and David Scott first docked with another object in orbit. Nearby stands Armstrong's Gemini 8 space suit and his Apollo 11 backup suit, a model of the Saturn 5 launch vehicle, many of Neil's childhood aviation magazines and a collection of front pages from around the world that proclaim man's first landing on the moon.

It is at this point, as you enter the sound tunnel filled with sounds heard by astronauts in space, that the real experience of the Armstrong Museum begins. The tunnel terminates in the video room where three television monitors continually present the story of several space missions.

These exhibits prepare you for entry into the infinity room, an 18 by 18 foot room totally lined with polished mirrors. You will see your image projected again and again, creating the sensation of the boundless limits of outer space itself.

The walkway through the infinity cube leads to an open amphitheater beneath the Museum's huge white dome. As you sit, or even lie back if you like, you'll be surrounded by the sights of space travel, the sounds of this strange world and be led on an endless voyage through the emptiness beyond the earth.

The decompression lounge at the end of the astro-theater brings you back to earth in open garden, just beyond a wall of glass, and a collection of many of the awards presented to Armstrong for his momentous achievement.

For the past, Fort Recovery stands in Mercer County near the Indians line.

This was the site of the first great defeat of American arms after the Revolutionary War. Here in 1791, Chiefs Little Turtle and Blue Jacket drubbed General St. Clair and his frontier army. Next year on this site, General "Mad" Anthony Wayne built his Fort Recovery on his triumphant march to the north.

Two of Wayne's blockhouses have been reconstructed and a museum presents the life of legionnaires by means of costumed mannequins and original weapons. Nearby, a 93-foot

Bandit Slays Girl Teller

AUGUSTA, Mich. (AP) — A 19-year-old teller was shot to death by a shotgun-wielding robber on her first day at work at a branch bank.

Witnesses and authorities gave this account:

Connie Adams of Plainwell, Mich., a college student working as a summer employee, was approached by the bandit Monday afternoon and was filling a bag with money when the alarm at the Augusta branch of the Industrial State Bank went off.

The robber shot Miss Adams in the face. Then he calmly reloaded his shotgun and repeated his demand for money to another teller, who handed over an unknown amount of cash.

The robber sped off in a car driven by another man.

It was not known who sounded the bank alarm. While Monday was Miss Adams' first day at the Augusta branch, she had worked previously at other locations of the bank.

GM Cuts Back On Automation

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors is apparently bowing to criticism of its highly automated Vega assembly line by emphasizing more manual labor in planned 1976 production of a new mini-Chevrolet.

The swing back to more manual labor appears designed to stem any new outbreaks of "blue-collar blues" which plagued the Chevrolet Vega assembly plant at Lordstown, Ohio, two years ago.

At the same time, however, GM will be using more robots on underbody subassembly operations in an effort to keep assembly lines relatively error-free.

Derby News

MRS. GEORGIA SWEET, 896-2462

Cheers to the Derby Garden Club whose float won second place last weekend at the Harrisburg Homecoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Onewehr returned home Friday after spending two days at Salt Fork Lodge, attending the Farm Bureau Eastern Ohio Young Couples Conference. It was sponsored by the Grove City Farmers Exchange. Other couples attending from Pickaway County were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black from near Commercial Point, and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bartels of Circleville.

Mrs. Elizabeth Arledge has purchased a residence in Circleville and moved there on August 10.

On Saturday and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Steven Onewehr attended the National Tractor Pulling Contest Championship at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Local men participating were Dick McPherson and Ronnie Furniss. In the 5000 pound modified class, Dick and Ronnie took second place and $500 after competing against 52 other tractors. In the 7000 pound modified, fourth place and $250 was won. After competing against 43 tractors, 19 were tied for first place. Each tractor had pulled the weighted sled 300 feet. In the pull-off, Dick and Ronnie placed fourth with a 290 foot, 4 inch pull.

Clyde Onewehr has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Delay and Huck of Clark's Lake.

Mrs. Emogene Spires, Karen and Karl and Miss Mike Conley spent the weekend at Bowling Green attending the National Tractor pull.

A reminder to Derby Garden Club members and families of the picnic on August 25th at Windsor Park, Grove City. There will be an evening picnic from 5:30-6 p.m.

Denise Gresh was the weekend guest of great grandmother Mrs. Mae Delay. Delay.

A Page Of Opinion

Not Foolproof

One of the first comprehensive studies of the 1974 safety belt, ignition interlock system is in. It shows as plainly as past records have that a large percentage of American motorists do not like seat belts and will find a way around their use.

The seat belts installed by law on 1974 model cars were supposed to contain a foolproof connection to the ignition which would prevent the engine from starting until the belts were connected and properly in place.

But a survey by the private Insurance Institute for Highway Safety says it isn't so. "In spite of the interlock system," the study concludes, "41 per cent of drivers in the 1974 vehicles were not using any belts."

How the drivers managed to overcome the compulsory feature of the system was not explained, but it really is not difficult for someone determined to try. The point remains that the key to seat belt use, as in other safety features, is the driver. He must be convinced that protective devices like seat belts are a small inconvenience to pay for the potential benefits.

One way to look at the challenge is that about half the drivers now accept voluntary restraints. Persuading most of the others will take a little longer.

Tennis Is Ancient Game

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—One hundred years ago an Englishman, Maj. Walter C. Wingfield, with nothing better to do, devised and patented a game he called Sphairistike. The legal papers involved in the patent described it as a "new and improved portable court for playing the ancient game of tennis." (Games akin to tennis had been played in Egypt and Persia at least 500 years before Christ.)

Wingfield's court was shaped like an hour-glass. Its net was high at the poles, sagged low in the middle. His racquets were strung with catgut. The gentle sport appealed to London's upper crust, particularly when the posh but hard-up All England Croquet club, located in a London suburb named Wimbledon, added Sphairistike to its seemingly pleasures. Almost from its start, tennis-on-the-lawn, or lawn tennis, as Sphairistike began to be called, was the butt of the ridicule of the working classes. They called it "Sticky," and considered its male practitioners fags. Oafs all over the world brayed "Forty love!" in a falsetto for the next three quarters of a century.

The game was exported to Bermuda during that same 1874 and played by the officers of the British garrison. There it was seen by an American visitor, Miss Mary E. Outerbridge, who bought the necessary hardware and returned with same to her native Staten Island, New York. The Outerbridges were the first family of that island, so the nabobs accepted it from the moment the first court was set up at the swank Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club.

Tennis saw the light of day for the first time in New England a year later when two Brahmin blades, James Dwight and F. R. Sears Jr. of Boston ordered a "set" from London and laid out a court in Nahant. It was there that the first U.S. tournament was held, 98 years ago. The first "official" American championship was staged in August, 1881, at the Casino, Newport, R.I., under the auspices of Gen. R. S. Oliver, of the Albany (N.Y.) Tennis Club, first president of the then newly-formed United States National Lawn Tennis Association.

None of those pioneers would be able to comprehend what has happened to their game in recent years. After decades of dawdling along it has zoomed as the fastest growing participant sport in the land.

There are many reasons for its miraculous growth.

The player can get a good workout in an hour, and then go with the day's business — whereas golf knocks a full day out of a player's life.

It is a relatively cheap game to play, a factor in these economic times.

It rids itself of the hypocrisy of amateurism vs. professionalism. Nearly every better-known player today is a pro, whereas just the reverse was true. The late Suzanne Langlen and Vincent Richards distressed countless fans when they turned pro in the late 1920s under the aegis of a carnival pitch-man named C.C. "Cash and Carry" Pyle. When the great William T. Tilden went over to the other side in 1931, the Cassandras said that tennis would never be tennis again.

Today's pros are the new heroes and heroines of the sports world. Billie Jean King's defeat of that aging clown Bobby Riggs meant as much to tennis in general as the Davis Cup. Chris Evert and her slugging southpaw suitor Jimmy Connors are Romeo and Juliet to the increasing avalanche of young people taking up tennis. Who would have even dreamed, in the 1920s, of naming a horse Helen Wills?

The Work Ethic

By JIM BISHOP

When a father goes off the rails, he tends to go far off. I preached ambition and personal achievement to four daughters. Marriage, I said, was not enough. Yesterday I learned that my daughter Ginny, mother of eight, is in the real estate business.

A niece, Mrs. Joan Angerami of Keansburg, N.J., sent an advertisement clipped from the Red Bank Register. There, beyond doubt, was the photo of our attractive daughter smiling out of newsprint at her parents.

A few years back, she told her mother that she was taking courses in real estate. We stifled our yawns. It would come to nothing. She and Charley have a platoon of youngsters—four boys, four girls—who eat like maddened termites.

Good luck. Forget it. We forgot it. Ginny didn't send the newspaper. Her cousin did. Beside the photo, some of the copy says: "At one time she was the youngest published authoress of an adult book when she was 17. She gave up a literary career to raise a family. She resides in Holmdel with her husband Charles. The Lane Agency, Holmdel, New Jersey."

The book. Yes, I forgot. In high school she became entranced with Father Duffy of the Fighting 99th, and ran all over Manhattan and the Bronx digging up old people who knew him. At 17, she wrote it; the book became a Doubleday Book Club selection, and she was finished as an author when she met Charles Frechette.

They prayed for children and, by God, their prayers were answered. She started with identical twins — Robin and Pamela — followed by four boys, then two more girls; and my old man moaned, "This is one hell of a busy family." He shuffled back to the bedroom with his rosary and a belt of rye.

This morning, Kelly and I phoned to congratulate Virginia Lee. Robin was on the phone. "If you want Mom," she said patiently, "you will have to call the Lane Agency. She's working in a model home." Never mind, I said.

The twins, I had forgotten, are now 16, and five-seven. She and her sister can cook dinner, wash dishes, iron clothes. I couldn't speak to Kevin either. At 14, he has a summer job.

Charley has a good position with Owens Illinois-Lily Tulip Company. He, too, is laced with ambition. The tiny ones, Amy and Kelly, I suspect, sort laundry or rake the front yard. They're eight and three, and being three is no excuse.

I overdid the work ethic somewhere. And yet all of my girls, in spite of setting life goals for themselves, reserve plenty of time for fun. All of them enjoyed dates and movies and were raised on spaghetti and meatballs. All are now into pizza.

Gayle, the only one to drop out after high school, fashioned her own ambition. She wandered in and out of hospital work until she found Dr. Jack Mickle, a renowned pathologist. Without a medical degree, she studied anatomy and autopsies, absorbing everything he said and did, worshipping his knowledge and the man.

It's nice work if you enjoy being with quiet people. Last year Gayle, the family cheapskate, bought her own house and paid cash. She has a swimming pool and a knuckleheaded Great Dane named Caesar. Feeding him keeps her working.

Karen met a boy, Mark Lavrich, in elementary school, and decided to marry him. They've been engaged, I think, since the Civil War. He's studying to be a C.P.A. She'll get a degree entitling her to teach retarded children. Karen has the patience, the knowledge, the love.

Our youngest, in December, will be off to Florida Atlantic University as a junior. Kathi is 19. She wants a master's degree in family psychology. Stated succinctly, she would like to mend broken marriages. This one studies all over the rug and is never satisfied with less than an "A."

"When we were all little," she said, looking at the ad about Ginny, "you said you knew a lot of wives who couldn't help their husbands. You also said, 'What will you do if your husband is disabled, or dies? Many widows have children and no skills.'"

Fine. If I said it, I'm a notch brighter than I thought. But, most emphatically, I did not say, "Aim for a bigger career than your husband." What I probably said was, "Someday I'm gonna chuck this typewriter in the garbage can. When that day arrives, you kids better be ready to chip in to support your parents."

With that in mind, I can afford one benevolent smile (each) for the real estate tycoon, the free autopsy when I'm ready for it, the exceptional children program, and I'll bust up the marriage just so Kathi can practice mending it...

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 21st the 233rd day of 1974. There are 132 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1951, the United States ordered construction of the first atomic submarine.

On this date:

In 1858, slavery was an issue as the famous debates began between political contenders Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas.

In 1918, the World War I battle of the Somme river began in France.

In 1940, the Communist revolutionary, Leon Trotsky, died of wounds inflicted by an assassin in Mexico City.

In 1945, the United States halted World War II lend-lease operations.

In 1959, Hawaii officially became the 50th state of the union. Congress had passed a bill admitting Hawaii on March 18th.

Ten years ago, eight people were killed and eight injured when a heavy truck rammed into a passenger train near Leonard, Ont.

Five years ago, the United States ordered the expulsion of a Cuban diplomat to the U.N. on grounds that he sought to get a refugee to undertake a mission relating to the security of the office of president.

One year ago, Vice President Spiro Agnew accused members of the Justice Department of an effort to indict him in the eyes of the public.

Today's birthdays: Britain's Princess Margaret is 44 years old. Bandleader Count Basie is 70.

Thought for today: The White House is the finest prison in the world Harry S. Truman.

Mr. F. G., Mont.

Dear Mr. G.: This question was specifically put to Dr. Herbert S. Kupperman, specialist in endocrinology at the New York University Medical Center.

He said, "No. Menopause refers to the cessation of the menses. The male climacteric (change of life), however, denotes that stage in a man's life when gonadal (testes) function diminishes, eventually resulting in complete cessation."

"It's not as specific and definitive as what we see in the female, although the onset may be precipitous, occurring over three or four months."

"Men between the ages of 50 and 60 may develop these changes."

When the male change of life sets in, it is possible to study gonadal activity by measuring the steroid level in the blood. Occasionally, it is possible to replace hormones when they are found to be markedly deficient.

In general, there is scientific agreement that changes in body function do occur in the male, which can be classed as a male "change of life."

Time and age are responsible for changes in gonadal function and in changes in every other organ of the body.

My husband has chilosia. No one seems to know what this means. Could the doctor be trying to avoid telling us that this is cancerous?

Mrs. A. H. V., Maine

Dear Mrs. V.: Doctors do not play games with patients and pretend that cancerous or dangerous conditions do not exist.

Sometimes, particular patients are unable to accept the seriousness of their condition and physicians, therefore, enlist another member of the family in the handling of a difficult emotional problem.

Your doctor was not hiding anything when he said your husband had chilosia. This difference in spelling may account for the reason why you haven't been able to find it in a medical dictionary. Chelosia is a disorder of the lips and the angles of the mouth, with small cracks and scaling.

Only occasionally is a vitamin B deficiency the cause. Ill-fitting dentures in adults, with drooping at the sides of the mouth, may account for cracks and fissures. These sometimes become infected with bacteria and funguses.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The cost of labor in relation to industrial sales during the past few years has remained considerably below that of the 1960s. But it might end this year.

The ratio perplexes a good many people who note, for example, that unit labor costs last year rose 1.4 per cent in manufacturing and 5 per cent for all nonfarm businesses. Why, then, shouldn't the cost of labor percentage rise?

The explanation lies in sharply higher sales and output per manhour at the very time that controls kept labor's gains below their rate of earlier periods.

The annual labor cost study by Standard & Poor's, the investment research organization, shows that wages-salaries-fringe benefits accounted for 25.6 per cent of each dollar of industrial sales in 1973.

A year earlier the percentage was 26.4, and in 1971 it amounted to 25.9 per cent, but throughout the sixties it never dropped below 26, and more often ranged between 27 and 28.

Stock market analysts, among others, find such statistics highly useful in assessing the impact of changes in wages on specific industries and companies.

For example, when wage increases are general throughout the economy some industries find the impact far more pronounced than do others.

The oil industry, to illustrate, is highly automated, with labor costs amounting last year to only 9 per cent of sales. But for air transportation the equivalent figure was 40 per cent.

Here are a few others:

Aerospace and aircraft, 37 per cent; automobiles and trucks, 31; meats and dairy products, 13; electrical-electronics, 38.

The figures for individual companies within these industries varies almost as much as between industries. In aerospace, the percentages range from 27 to 45, and in oil from 6 to 23.

However, indications are that the trend will end this year, a legacy of the removal of controls and a feeling among labor leaders that unions must make up for past restraints.

Economic fears are providing an incentive for labor to secure what it feels is a fairer share of the sales dollar, either through direct wage increases or fringe benefits.

Buyers Pay More For Bread Despite Drop In Wheat Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — New figures by the Agriculture Department show consumers paid more for bread in the second quarter of this year despite a sharp drop in the cost of wheat used to make it.

During April-June, the department said Monday in a report on marketing and transportation of farm products, the average price of a one-pound loaf of white bread rose to 34.4 cents from 32.8 cents in the first quarter.

But meantime, the figures showed, the farm value of wheat used to make a loaf dropped to 4.5 cents from a record 6.4 cents in the first three months of 1974.

Compared with a year earlier, the second-quarter price of a loaf of bread was up 8.2 cents.

The report said: "The large increases in prices the past year was equal to the total increase between 1955 and 1973, and reflected both higher ingredient costs and higher marketing charges."

The report showed that a year earlier, in the second quarter of 1973, the retail price of bread averaged 26.2 cents per loaf. Of that, the wheat farmer's share was 3.6 cents. But wheat prices soared shortly thereafter, climbing steadily until last winter.

Nationally, wheat sold at the farm for a record $5.52 per bushel last February before beginning a decline of several months. Later, however, the price has risen and as of July 15 averaged $4.04 per bushel at the farm, nationally, according to USDA.

The report said middleman shares for making flour, baking bread and selling it in retail stores were held down, relatively, in 1972 and in early 1973.

"Then between the second quarter of 1973 and 1974, the baker's spread (share) increased 4.6 cents, accounting for more than half the increase in bread prices during this period," the report said.

Autopsy Awaits

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Brown County Prosecutor William Stapleton said he is awaiting an autopsy report on the shooting death of Rita Mann, 23, who died Thursday.

She was shot while in a car outside her mobile home at Aberdeen, he said.

Thelma Leona Wilson, Ronald Slager Are Wed

MR. AND MRS. RONALD E. SLAGER

The wedding of Miss Thelma Leona Wilson and Mr. Ronald E. Slager took place 6:30 p.m., Aug. 10th, in Wilson Chapel Christian Union Church, Elizabethtown, Ind.

The Rev. Harold McElwee officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Wilson, Route 1, Elizabethtown, Ind., and the son of Mrs. Aldena Slager, Route 2, Laurelville.

Willing Workers Class Holds Picnic At Ted Lewis Park

Willing Workers Class of Pontius United Methodist Church held its annual picnic recently at Ted Lewis Park with Mrs. Ethel Klingensmith as hostess.

Mrs. Marguerite Steverson conducted a brief business meeting. A silent auction was held and secret sister gifts exchanged.

Each member participated in the program. Mrs. Catherine Goodman read "The End Of The World For Teenagers," Mrs. Walter Richards read a selection from the Ohio Farmer magazine and Mrs. Floy Brobst conducted a contest.

Other readings were "Sickness" by Mrs. Russell Palm, "Our Country, Yesterday, Today And Tomorrow" by Mrs. Steverson and "Grave Days" by Mrs. Robert Brobst.

During the social hour Mrs. Porter Martin, Route 5, Circleville invited the class to her home for the September meeting. Each member may bring enough dried flowers and cattails to make friendship bouquets.

Forever Young Band Discusses Plans For Engagements

The August meeting of the Forever Young Band was held recently at the Senior Center with Mrs. Turney Ross presiding at the business session. Present were 11 members and one guest, Mrs. Ellen DeLong.

Plans were made for future engagements: Pickerington Festival on Labor Day, Sulphur Springs Festival in Williamsport on Sept. 14th and Columbus Art Gallery's Talent Show on Sept. 15th. Suggestions for performances at the Pumpkin Show on Oct. 17th and 18th were discussed.

The band practiced for an engagement at the Ohio State Fair on Aug. 27th. Another practice will be held during the regular monthly meeting of Pickaway Senior Citizens, Aug. 22nd, at the Lutheran Parish House.

President Ford Program Topic For GOP Boosters

Members of GOP Boosters Club met Friday evening in the home of Mrs. John Steinhauser, 1028 Georgia Road.

A dinner preceded the business session, opened with the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, led by Mrs. Wayne Stonerock. Singing "The Battle Hymn of The Republic" followed.

Miss Lucille Dumm, in charge of the meeting, used as her topic "There's A Ford In Our Future-Our New President." She spoke of his good record in Congress throughout the years and said she believed he could work with both houses if given the opportunity. She continued by saying that now is the time for all the people to unite and put our country first in all things. She also said that Richard M. Nixon should always be given credit for the return of our young men from the wars through his peace efforts.

Members agreed to oppose amnesty for draft dodgers who left the country.

Games were conducted during the social hour and prizes awarded to Mrs. Roger Jury, Mrs. Marion I. Smith and Mrs. Stonerock. Mrs. Jury was also winner of the door prize.

The September meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Jury, 514 N. Court St.

Philip's Flock Plans Fiesta

Completing plans for a Mexican Fiesta at the home of Bill and Susan Parker, Route 1, Stoutsville on Sunday evening were officers of Philip's Flock of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

A round of beef will be cooked on a spit over a barbecue pit near the beach house and swimming pool at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dunlap Jr., Route 1, Williamsport.

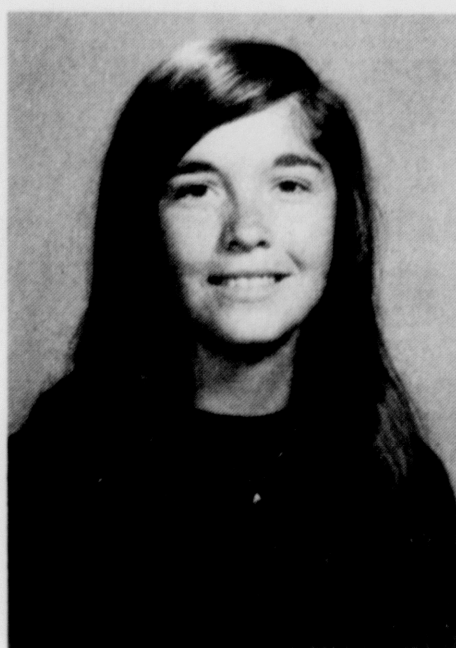

The old southwestern atmosphere will be used for dinner, decorations, music for dancing, and dress. Swimming will be enjoyed in the pool while others dance in the moonlight which has been prearranged for the affair.

Decorations will include flowers, candles, special lighting effects, Mexican woven baskets, and Pinatas which will be broken releasing gifts.

Reservations for adults and senior high students of St. Philip's are to be made by contacting Susan Parker 474-2890, Nancy McKay 474-8098 or Myron Leist 474-5957.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Lanman of Williamsport have returned home from a 10 day trip through western states. While in Montana they visited Mr. Lanman's sister-in-law, Mrs. R. L. Lanman of Whitefish.

GRACE ELLEN ENGLE

Grace Engle To Marry Randy Prehm

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Engle Jr. of Stoutsville announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace Ellen, to Randy Doyle Brehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Brehm of Fayette, Ohio.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Mount Carmel School of Nursing. She is a registered nurse at Mount Carmel Medical Center, Columbus.

Mr. Brehm, a graduate of Ohio State University, is employed by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, Columbus, as a technical assistant.

A Nov. 16 wedding is planned.

Farrar and grandchildren, Logan; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Farrar and family, Logan; Mr. and Mrs. David Farrar and family, Oak Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Farrar, Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlan Farrar and family, Jackson; James A. Farrar, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Byrd, Logan; Ellen Farrar, Clyde, and Polly Farrar, Oak Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Farrar, Columbus.

A resolution was passed to hold the next reunion at Gold Cliff Park on the last Sunday in July of 1975.

Legion Auxiliary Entertains Vets

Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary of Circleville, entertained 60 patients of Ward 35D and C, Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe during its August visit. Brownies, ice cream bars, lemonade, cheese curls and mints were served. Games and visiting completed the evening.

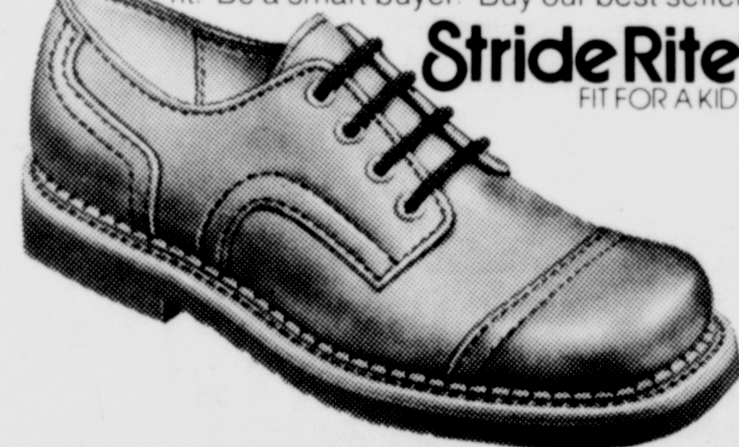

This was the first visit to this ward due to extensive remodeling on Building 211 where the auxiliary has been conducting visits for many years.

Ditty bags and lap robes made by Union Guild along with ditty bags, magazines, cards and jigsaw puzzles and cord for tying the ditty bags from the auxiliary were delivered to the hospital.

Mary Stephens, VA and R chairman, was assisted during the evening by Roseann Stinson, Bess Simson and Maggie Mavis.

FmHA To Guarantee Emergency Livestock And Poultry Loans

Financial assistance to livestock and poultry producers under the Emergency Livestock Credit Act will become available next week through a new loan guarantee authority of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), a rural credit service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Lester M. Stone, FmHA state director, said agency will be prepared to implement the recently-enacted law by guaranteeing up to 80 per cent of possible loss on loans made by legally organized lenders to livestock and poultry producers.

Under terms of the act, the loan guarantee program will be in effect through July 25, 1975. It may be extended for six months beyond that date if the Secretary of Agriculture determines that it is needed to help the livestock industry obtain sufficient credit.

The law calls for loans to be made by banks or other legally organized lenders. Stone said producers are urged to make applications to, and complete loan arrangements with lending institutions. The lender will process the application, close the loan and service it.

The maximum loan to any single borrower that can be assisted by an FmHA guarantee is $250,000. Loans will be repayable in three years, although renewal for two years may be authorized. Interest rates are determined between borrower and lender.

Stone said the agency is authorized to guarantee up to 80 per cent of loss that a lender may incur on loans to bonafide farmers and ranchers who breed, raise, fatten or market beef and dairy cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, chickens and turkeys. A majority of the borrower's income must come from the operation, and a majority portion of the borrower's time must be devoted to the livestock or poultry production.

In the case of a corporation or partnership, assistance can be extended only when the majority partners or stockholders are primarily engaged in the livestock or poultry production.

FmHA guarantees will be made only when the bonafide farmer or rancher cannot obtain financing without a guarantee. Loans may not be used to expand operations.

Stone said the county FmHA office serving the area where the borrower's livestock or poultry operations are conducted will handle requests from lenders for guarantees, or supply information on the loan guarantee program.

The FmHA office serving Pickaway, Ross and Hocking County is located at 1430 N. Court St.

Cincinnati Attorney Named To Panel

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati attorney Simon Lazarus Jr. was named by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan to the 25-member task force to prepare legislative changes in anticipation of the ratification of the Women's Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The committee will determine which state laws need revision or repeal and determine whether a permanent commission on the status of women is needed in Ohio.

HANDICAPPED YOUNGSTERS CAMP-OUT—Six area handicapped children enjoyed summer fun at the first session of Camp Easter Seal recently. Nearly 100 Ohio youngsters took part in two weeks of outdoor activities including swimming, hiking, boating, crafts and nature study at Camp Pittenger near Tiffin. Local campers were, from left, Penny Kitteral, age 9, of Jeffersonville, Fayette County; J. Michael Krumm, age 12, of Chillicothe, Ross County; Jamie Roselyn Hixon, age 9, of Circleville, Pickaway County; Georgia Ann Roll, age 9, of Chillicothe, Ross County; Timothy S.

Courtney, age 12, of Logan, Hocking County; and Paul Lyons, age 11, of Chillicothe, Ross County. Standing at the rear is counselor John Williams of Republic. The annual Easter Seal camping program is designed for youngsters with physical and neurological handicaps and is divided into three sessions: children ages 7-12, July 27-Aug. 8; youths ages 12-20, Aug. 10-22; and adults, Aug. 24-31. Camperships are provided through donations made to the Fayette, Hocking, Pickaway and Ross County Easter Seal units for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

Rockefeller Family; An American Dynasty

NEW YORK (AP) — In the spring of 1720, Johann Peter Rockefeller left his home in the German Rhineland and settled in the then-wilderness of New Jersey. He was a man of little wealth and his name meant nothing.

Seven generations later, the Rockefeller name is synonymous with power and wealth, with public service and with philanthropy. The second son of that seventh generation, Nelson A. Rockefeller, was named on Tuesday by President Ford as his nominee for vice president.

In a country not given to titles and ruling class, the Rockefellers have perpetuated a dynasty of great influence on economic affairs and now political life.

Family members are spread through corporate, industrial, banking, real estate and international business ventures. The Rockefeller Foundation and other organizations annually dispense millions from family endowments and gifts. In the past decade and a half, Rockefellers have found a new role in the political arena.

It is a dynasty based on wealth, and the origin of that wealth can be dated with precision.

On Jan. 10, 1870, the Standard Oil Co. was incorporated in Ohio with John Davison Rockefeller as president. He was called a robber baron by many. He gave away $530 million before he died. He was Nelson Rockefeller's grandfather.

The early generations of Rockefellers had survived in America as tradesmen and farmers, neither spectacular successes nor failures. The family now dates its history from the birth of John D. Rockefeller in 1839. His father was an itinerant salesman who sometimes used the name "Dr. Rock" to peddle patent medicines.

John D. Rockefeller had a knack for acquiring money and a willingness to give it away. He was imaginative and ruthless in his business dealings, pious and utterly correct in his private life. His attributes have become trademarks of a family that considers wealth a public trust and waste a sin.

Under his direction, Standard Oil acquired control of the oil industry through mergers, favorable railroad rates, rebates and other practices, many now illegal. By 1885, the company controlled 95 per cent of the nation's oil refining capacity. At the turn of the century, John D. Rockefeller's annual income was estimated at $50 million. He was called the richest man in the world.

The break-up of Standard Oil in 1911 under new federal antitrust laws had little effect on the family fortune. John D. Rockefeller had retired from active business life.

His most trusted adviser, a Baptist minister named Frederick T. Gates, had warned him, "Unless you distribute your vast fortune quicker than it grows, it will crush not only you and your children, but your children's children."

With the aid of his son, John D. Rockefeller Jr., the senior Rockefeller spent the rest of his life giving away money and polishing his public image. He died in 1937, three months short of his 97th birthday.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. spent his life in the shadow of the family fortune. He was a shy, retiring man with little taste for the world of business and finance. He seemed almost apologetic about the family's wealth and spent most of his life giving part of it away.

In 1913, he organized the Rockefeller Foundation. By the time he died in 1960, the foundation and other family-funded agencies had given an estimated $2.5 billion to education, medical research and other social and charitable causes.

Despite such philanthropy, the children of John Jr. inherited considerable fortunes. A daughter and five sons, Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller included, seemed to wear their millions more comfortably. While their father was content with the quiet bankrolling of philanthropy, they have acquired a taste for active control and public leadership.

John D. Rockefeller 3rd, 68, eldest of the brothers, has been a leader in efforts to assess and deal with world population problems as founder and chairman of the Population Council.

Nelson Rockefeller, 66, spent much of his life in government service and politics.

The third son, Laurence Rockefeller, 65, has combined an interest in conservation with business as developer of resort hotels in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and elsewhere. Like the others of his generation, he has been willing to use the family wealth and influence in matters that concern him, such as environmental quality.

Winthrop Rockefeller, who died in 1973, displayed another trait of this Rockefeller generation, a willingness to move outside the family base in New York. He was twice elected governor of Arkansas after serving eight years as chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Youngest of the five brothers is David Rockefeller, 59, board chairman and chief executive officer of Chase Manhattan Bank, third largest in the country. He has gained a worldwide reputation as a powerful spokesman for the banking and business community.

A fourth generation of the dynasty now waits in the wings. There are more than a score of them, the children of Nelson Rockefeller and his generation, and they are already active in the arts, sciences, politics and the family's business and financial enterprises.

Gilligan Re-Election Drive To Center On GOP Mistakes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John Gilligan's campaign for re-election will focus on governmental mismanagement during the previous Republican administration, the governor's campaign manager said Tuesday.

Eugene "Pete" O'Grady said he agreed with a statement by former Gov. James Rhodes, who is challenging the Democratic governor in November, that mismanagement is a key issue.

O'Grady accused the Republican nominee of costing Ohio taxpayers $414 million "or about one year's yield of the personal income tax" during his two terms as governor.

O'Grady cited other examples of "mismanagement" during Rhodes administration including:

—Misrepresentation of the yield of the cigarette tax by $1 million.

—Failure to recognize a reserve clause in a 1968 bond issue which made the gasoline tax inadequate to cover it, costing $40 million.

—A faulty decision costing taxpayers $120 million because he (Rhodes) decided to withhold the sale of bonds in 1964, expecting rates to go down instead of up and issued short term notes.

—Firing auditors from the Department of Taxation and destroying the state's ability to collect delinquent sales taxes, costing $79 million.

—Causing taxpayers to lose $25 million one year because he (Rhodes) failed to provide auditing personnel and procedures in the Welfare Department which caused overpayment.

Rhodes could not be reached for comment, but an aide said, "We will run our campaign. Let Gilligan run his."

Urge State Takeover Of Ohio Workhouse

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The state has been asked to take over Cleveland's Warrensville Workhouse, the chairman of the governor's task force on penal reforms and corrections said Tuesday.

Clear Gridders Of Possession Of Marijuana

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Two Miami of Ohio football players were found innocent of charges of possession of marijuana Tuesday by Butler County Judge Clem Imfeld Jr.

Carmen Rome, 20, of Oxford, defensive back, and Calvin Knox, 23, a flanker back from Inkster, Mich. were arrested July 12. Police said a packet of the weed was found in the car, owned by Rome's father.

Testimony in the trial indicated the car had been used by other persons as well.

Miami Coach Dick Crum told the court the players were "excellent in character." He said their performance during training was "not compatible with drug abuse" and that both "are of professional football caliber."

Tape Player Taken From Car

Kris Kline, Route 2, told Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities that someone took an eight-track tape player and eight tapes from his vehicle, while it was parked at the Deer Creek Beach Parking Lot, Tuesday.

The thieves entered the unlocked car taking the player, sometime between 2:30 and 5 p.m.

The items were valued at $125.

Gilligan Supports Financial Disclosure

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — "Considering what the people of this nation have endured for the past two years, disclosure is more than a nice thing to do, it is a sacred responsibility," Gov. John J. Gilligan said Tuesday at a labor rally.

The Ohio governor said the state financial disclosure law for political candidates "establishes a minimum for compliance, not the maximum."

But, he added, loopholes in the law are not excuses for less than full disclosure.

Butler County Given Surplus Helicopter

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Butler County received a surplus Army helicopter Tuesday for use by any county agency needing it, officials said.

Butler County commissioners said the helicopter would be used for damage inspections, law enforcement work, moving injured persons, surveys and spotting pollution.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Should She?

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for 14 months. He had a 3-year-old son by a previous marriage. We had no trouble getting custody of the boy because his mother didn't want him. (She hasn't come to see him once.)

I am 29 and John is 35, and I want to have a child of our own. John's son, whom I honestly couldn't love more if I had given birth to him, would dearly love a little brother or sister, and I desperately want one, but John says no. His excuses are lame. ("The world is in such a sorry state, we shouldn't increase the population now. We have one healthy, normal child, why press our luck?")

I am on the pill, and could conveniently "forget" to take it a few mornings, but I hate to be dishonest. If I were to get pregnant, he couldn't force me to have an abortion, and I'm sure that after the child was born he would grow to love it like he loves his son.

Please help me sort out my feelings, Abby.

TORN IN CHICAGO

DEAR TORN: About your scheme to "conveniently forget" the pill: Forget it. (The scheme, not the pill.) Ideally, you and John should get some counseling together. Most clergymen are well equipped; also Chicago has many expert marriage counselors. If John refuses to go, you can't force him, but go alone. You need some sound, objective counseling to help you resolve this knotty problem.

DEAR ABBY: A writer was unhappy about her flat chest and asked you whether breast implants were considered deceitful and therefore sinful in the eyes of the Lord.

You suggested that she ask her clergyman for a ruling.

I disagree. Every clergyman cannot keep abreast of new developments in plastic surgery; some clergymen are big busts as advisors on these points.

The writer should look behind her breast-where her heart is-for the answer. Whom is she trying to deceive or please?

"Capping" one's teeth for cosmetic reasons has been an accepted practice for years. Are teeth more important to beauty than breasts?

BEVERLY HILLS M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Only to those who have trouble keeping their mouths shut.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHIRLEY: I AGREE. Something is wrong. Maybe he gave at the office.

Confiscate Smelt From Fishing Boat

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania Fish Commission authorities have confiscated about two tons of smelt from a Dover, Ontario, boat charged with netting in state waters.

The "C.J. Weaver" was escorted into Erie Harbor Monday where Capt. Charles Weaver was fined $50 and had his net impounded and one-third of his catch confiscated.

The smelt was valued at six cents a pound. The Commission charged that the trawler had netted about a third of its catch in Pennsylvania waters.

Sugar Creek Avoids Channelization Push

By JIM DAUBEL
Written for The Associated Press

It is one year later on Sugar Creek, the picturesque Northwestern Ohio stream that was a gleam in the eye of channelizers in August of 1973.

When last we wrote about the meandering haven for wildlife, its future was clouded.

Thirteen property owners along its 10-mile course through Wood, Sandusky and Ottawa counties had petitioned their commissioners for channel improvement on Sugar Creek.

More than 1,000 land owners, to be what petitioners called benefited by the widening, deepening and dredging, would pay at least $700,000 in costs through tax assessments.

Upstream portions of Sugar Creek had been channelized years earlier despite objections of angry opponents, who protested all the way to the Ohio Supreme Court. The court ruled against them.

Ironically the original widening and straightening of Sugar Creek flushed water downstream so fast that lower reaches, constricted like a funnel could not handle the flow.

Commissioners of the three counties met last August to hear public opinion on whether the same ditching should be undertaken downstream on Sugar Creek.

Views were sharply divided. Numerically, however, the "nays" had it by a landslide.

Commissioners hedged, adjourning the emotional session for one year during which time opponents were challenged to demonstrate that channelization was unnecessary.

Enter the Sugar Creek Protection

Society, a dedicated band of laymen, housewives, farmers, Boy Scouts, Audubon Society members, sportsmen and conservationists.

In the 12 months between hearings, the society invested more than 1,000 volunteer hours in cleaning Sugar Creek.

Debris of all sorts was removed. Deadfalls were cleared. Banks were cleaned and rotting timbers by the ton cut up and hauled away.

Also in the interim, three original petitioners withdrew their signatures. At least five others leaned in the same direction.

The Department of Natural Resources opposed the project as did the Ohio Chapter of the National Audubon Society.

And, at the resumed hearing this month, commissioners agreed unanimously to reject the channelization petition.

It was the first time in Ohio, so far as any knowledgeable source could recall, that a volunteer cleanup has been employed as an instrument to block the drastic consequences of channelization.

Ohio Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair weather continued to favor Ohio during Tuesday night and early Wednesday, and will continue to do so through Thursday at least, the National Weather Service predicts. No rainfall was recorded officially in the state Tuesday and it was dry during the night.

Temperatures were generally in the 60s during the night but at 6 a.m. Wednesday at Zanesville the reading went to 59 degrees.

A frontal system which Wednesday morning extended from Lake Superior to Colorado continues to move slowly toward Ohio but should cause no widespread rainfall until Friday. Temperatures will continue on the warm side today and Thursday as winds become generally more southerly. Basically the highs should reach the mid 80s to lower 90s with lows at night in the 60s.

Middletown Mall Loses Key Store

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Community Development Director Paul Christiansen expressed disappointment Tuesday after a Dayton department store elected not to move into Middletown Mall.

The city, for the past year, has sought Elder-Beerman Inc., as the key store to the downtown development which will put nearly four city blocks under roof.

Max Gutmann, president of Elder-Beerman, said Tuesday the firm has leased a 40,000-square-foot building in the Middletown Shopping Center on the city's eastern edge.

Check Recall Petitions

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Hamilton County Board of Elections is checking some 300 signatures of a petition to recall Mayor James Lowery of suburban Lincoln Heights.

Lowery, at an earlier news conference, said he was the victim of a "conspiracy of some local officials, citizens and persons outside the community."

The recall petition charged that Lowery owed $804 to the treasury, destroyed records of 300 traffic tags, failed to hold court, failed to attend council meetings, failed to administer urban renewal, submitted the budget late and failure to cooperate with city council.

If the signatures are verified by the elections board, council could hold a separate election to select a new mayor, officials said.

Lincoln Heights voters will decide Friday on a new city charter that could cut Lowery's term off Dec. 1 regardless of the recall's outcome. The proposed charter would replace the mayor with a city manager.

Probe Blast At Company

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Mek Chemical Corp. official said Tuesday that an investigation has begun into the Aug. 12 explosion at the plant, located in the Erie Industrial Park.

The explosion originated in a sewage storage tank, Mek Chemical President Thomas Wahl said.

"There is no way we can believe a tank containing 90 per cent water could cause that kind of devastation," Wahl said.

Officials said the explosion caused $125,000 damage and temporarily shut down all production.

Wahl said he does not expect the plant to reopen until the cause of the explosion has been determined.

Cincinnati Hotel Purchase Studied

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Joseph Link Jr., chairman of the investment committee of the Cincinnati City Retirement System, said Tuesday that group would be receptive to a proposal that it invest in a planned $22 million Regency Hyatt House downtown hotel.

Five Cincinnati corporations, the chamber of commerce and the city are in negotiations with Hyatt House of Chicago for the hotel.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Normally, you are not easily deceived, but keep especially alert now or you could fall for some slick salesmanship.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid tendencies toward haste, emotionalism. Study proffered plans, proposals. New advances indicated, but don't lose interest in current projects.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Through sheer personality, you can be an effective influence in areas where stumbling blocks have been raised. Your spirit of enterprise stimulated.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You grasp ideas easily, see benefits to be gained where others only note the obstacles. Use your instincts NOW—and go forward!

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Not a good day in which to mix business with pleasure. Rosv promises made in an aura of congeniality could prove deceptive.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some strain in key associations indicated. Probe deeply to find the cause, the better to cope with it effectively. In any case, keep your sense of humor intact.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors—especially if finances are involved. Keep on an even keel and you should do well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead. Easy does it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): An associate will offer some unexpected assistance. Be receptive. The proffered help will be genuine, the motive sincere.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Routine will probably bore you now, but don't idle time away. Get busy on one of your pet creative projects. Influences stimulate original ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): If you've been interested in a new project but have postponed taking action, NOW is the time! But be sure you have the know-how and enough data to go on.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): There are tendencies now to take off on tangents and to ease up in effort just when more persistence is needed. Don't fail yourself by yielding to such inclinations.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile. Leoties have attained great heights in politics, the military, literature and industry; also as poets, musicians and painters. You are generous, almost to a fault, are always willing to share your assets with loved ones; sometimes, however, use this as a "hold" over them in order to get your own way. Don't! You have great pride in all that you do, but it sometimes becomes excessive, so be alert, since the arrogance you display at such times alienates others. Birthdate of: Samuel P. Langley, U.S. pioneer in aviation; Claude Debussy, Fr. composer.

Zookeepers Wed At Zoo

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — With chimpanzees for spectators, and a lone crow screeching overhead, Robert Shirley and Linda Ravenscroft were married — at the Utica Zoo.

Shirley, 22, is a fulltime zookeeper and his 20-year-old bride is assistant supervisor of the children's zoo.

The Unitarian ceremony was held on a July Saturday night on a grassy area between the zoo's Main Building and the Feline and Primate Building. The bird entered from the Main Building's World of Wildlife section.

"It was mostly Linda's idea," the bridegroom said of the unusual setting. "But we both wanted an outdoor wedding."

Shirley is a June graduate of Cornell University and his bride, formerly of Middleburg, N.Y., graduated from Mohawk Valley Community College. They met 15 months ago at the zoo where they were co-workers.

Don't Forget The Antacid

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Kenya capital is to play host later this year to the first International Gastronomic Fair for Africa. The slogan of the October event will be, appropriately, "Foodstuffs are fruits of earth and the result of human toil."

Foodstuffs, national dishes and drinks and other delicacies from all over Africa will be on display at the four-day event.

Coal Shutdown Remains In Effect

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The nation's coalfield, idled by a week long "memorial period" called by the United Mine Workers union, remained today a ghost of its pre-shutdown self. Rallies and memorial services were planned for at least three states as the work stoppage moved into its third day, with much of the attention being focused on Birmingham, Ala., where an estimated 1,000 miners were expected to protest the purchase of imported coal.

The union says it called the five-day memorial, affecting about 115,000 miners who dig 75 per cent of the nation's coal, to commemorate the thousands who have died in the mines. The industry has complained the work stoppage is a thinly veiled effort to deplete supplies at power plants and steel mills prior to contract bargaining time. The current three-year contract expires in mid-November and any reduction of coal stockpiles would strengthen the UMW's hand at the bargaining table.

More than 1,000 miners marched Tuesday through Washington, D.C., demanding the ouster of federal mine safety administrator James M. Day. UMW President Arnold Miller and other union officials claim Day has not adequately enforced federal mine safety laws, Day was nominated to be administrator of the Mine Enforcement Safety Administration by former President Richard M. Nixon but has not yet been confirmed by the Senate.

"We're not satisfied with the loss of life among our membership . . . it's time we take a firm position," said Miller after the group gathered in McPherson Square outside the union headquarters in downtown Washington.

He said that if government and industry don't respond to the union's

Clear Skies Favor Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms and high winds hit parts of the Midwest early today but most of the nation had clear skies.

Winds up to 70 miles per hour rocked Rock Rapids, in northwestern Iowa, during a storm there. No injuries were reported.

Thunderstorms were scattered from the upper Mississippi Valley to the southwestern Plains but brought little rain. The most was one inch in six hours at Williston, N.D.

Showers also ranged along the Gulf and the southern Atlantic Coast.

Fog cut visibility to less than three miles in the Appalachian Mountains and the upper Ohio Valley.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 38 at Evanston, Wyo., to 88 at Phoenix, Ariz.

pleas for more mine safety, "then we'll make it so costly to them that they'll have to respond."

Joseph A. "Chip" Yablonski Jr., the union's general counsel and son of the slain insurgent union leader Joseph A. Yablonski, told a wildly cheering audience it is time to serve notice on the coal industry that "coal miners are damn fed up with dying in the mines."

Other rallies today were scheduled in West Frankfort, Ill., and Ludlow, Colo.

UMW Spokesman Lloyd Baker said the primary purpose of today's march at Birmingham was to protest South African coal purchases by the Southern Co., a parent organization of Alabama Power, and three other southeastern utilities.

Alabama Power President Joseph Farley said of the planned march, "I don't know what in the world they think they're about. I wish they were mining instead of marching. It would be better for the nation, our customers and the miners' own pocketbooks."

DWI Arrests Skyrocket, Patrol Says

Patrol arrests for drunk driving are up 26 per cent in 1974 over 1973.

During the first seven months of 1974, Ohio State Highway Patrolmen arrested more motorists for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol (OMVI) than in any similar period in the Patrol's history.

"Patrolmen have arrested 12,666 drivers for OMVI so far in 1974," Colonel Robert M. Chiaramonte, Patrol superintendent, said. This figure indicates that, on the average, the Patrol made an arrest for OMVI every 24 minutes.

The drinking driver is the major contributing factor in Ohio's traffic related deaths. The drinking driver continues to be involved in approximately half of all fatal accidents investigated by the Patrol. These facts emphasize the need to remove the drunk driver from our highways.

"So far, 1974 has been a record breaking year in terms of OMVI arrest," Colonel Chiaramonte said. "Due to the over involvement of the drinking driver in fatal crashes, we can expect that increased enforcement in this area will contribute to decreased highway fatalities."

Auditions Open For 1974-75 Boys' Choir

Auditions for the 1974-75 Circleville Boys' Choir will begin Aug. 26. The boys are admitted to the choir by a yearly solo audition with the director. Any boy in a Pickaway County School, grades four through seven, is eligible for membership.

Paul Dunkle, founder-director, announced that the choir membership is limited to 30 boys, who will be selected by the auditions which conclude the first week of September.

The choir is beginning its seventh year and is available for any organization or church program. During the years, the choir has presented concerts in Ashville, Amanda, Commercial Point, McArthur and Laurelville, in addition to the many performances in Circleville.

First year members are charged a tuition fee which covers music expenses, concert performances and general expenses of the group.

An audition time may be obtained by calling the director at 474-2459.

Ohio Reaction To Rocky Good

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio political leaders have characterized vice presidential nominee Nelson Rockefeller as experienced, qualified and an asset to the administration of President Ford.

An Associated Press survey Tuesday showed the politicians offering bipartisan support to Rockefeller and predicting his confirmation in the Senate and House.

One dissenter was conservative Republican Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Johnstown who said he was disappointed with the selection.

Ashbrook said Rockefeller can't identify with the problems of the average man, the elderly and housewives and "he has continually been rejected nationwide by the majority of the Republican party."

Ashbrook said Rockefeller's nomination was inconsistent with Ford's statement that excessive government spending is a major problem because Rockefeller "throughout his career has used his influence to increase spending and debts."

Ohio Gov. John Gilligan said he was pleased with the former New York governor's nomination.

"His background as executive head of the government of New York State gives him a different viewpoint on national problems—a view-point that comes from working closely with local governments, as well as with the relationship between the state and federal governments," Gilligan said in a statement.

He said the governors have "felt for a long time that the national administration has looked exclusively to Congress for new leadership while ignoring the very real contribution state government leaders can make to the development of national policy."

State GOP chairman Kent McGough called Rockefeller "a good friend of Ohio" and added, "we are looking forward to not only his service as vice president, but in working with him in matters affecting the political future of Ohio and the nation."

Former Ohio Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes said Rockefeller's appointment was "superb" and added that the nominees had agreed to come to Ohio in October to campaign for Rhodes in his third bid for Governor.

Ohio Democratic state Chairman William Lavelle said he was not surprised by the announcement, and called the appointment "very logical and political." He said Rockefeller probably would face close scrutiny for his campaign spending.

But Republican Rep. Tennyson Guyer of Findlay theorized that Rockefeller's wealth will put him "above the kind of campaign abuses America is trying to abolish."

Guyer agreed with several of his colleagues that the 66-year-old Rockefeller's age disqualifies him from seeking the presidency.
